NOVEMBER 12, 2023 † THIRTY-SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

From The Pastor

The goal of the Christian life is union with God. Ultimately, that goal is fulfilled in the glory of heaven. However, to attain this fulfillment of Divine glory, our union with God begins here and now. In the humility of our human existence due to the consequences of sin and human disorder, the glory of God and the evidence of God for many is hard to see. St. Paul makes the point that even for the nonbeliever, the wonder and beauty of creation itself is powerful evidence of the existence and glory of God as Creator.

How do we realize and open ourselves to the presence of the living God in meaningful and personal ways? Love is the answer. Those who know love and seek to actively live in love will come know the presence and action of God in their lives. The love of God has a thousand faces. It is personal in relationships. It is evident in creation. It is felt in human compassion, empathy, gratitude, and any Christian virtues that bond the human family as one.

As we come closer to the end of the Liturgical Year, we are blest with readings from the Book of Wisdom and gospel stories about end times. Both of today's readings open the mind and alert the heart to the work of God revealing Himself to us.

'Resplendent and unfading is wisdom, and she is readily perceived by those who love her and found by those who seek her.' This opening line from the first reading makes it clear that God is not trying to hide or be unknown. Wisdom is the feminine personification of God. Wisdom is Divine love perceived through our longings for God as we seek personal wholeness in love this side of heaven.

Wisdom draws us to itself with the enticement and yearning to mature as human beings in the image of our Creator. We do not think of it this way, but the human heart pines for the acceptance and belonging that only love can give. Only in love can we feel and realize our value and dignity as human persons in relationship with God through loving relationships with others.

Love is the wisdom of God that reveals and awakens the human heart to something more, something larger than itself. It calls a person to live for something larger than self alone. To feel or awaken to this love is the evidence, or proof that God is already present and active in a person. It is a beautiful thing that gives meaning, motivation, and animation to a human life. It gives each of us a deep sense of an interior identity beyond the countless distractions and tensions of the world.

Wisdom does not appear to be a popular or very active grace these days. Why is that? Wisdom seems lost today in the social change the world is undergoing. Social, political, economic, and family structures today leave many ill at ease and uncertain of where to find firm footing for a sense of security. Many turn to heightened efforts for a sense of power, control over others to find security. Such anxieties create fear which is expressed in selfishness, lack of concern or basic empathy for others, if not active incivility.

In this social scenario, which we have all experienced, the fruit of wisdom is left by the wayside. This evidence is seen in today's parable of the ten virgins. It serves as an important reminder that God is ever-present. To live by faith is not determined by any circumstance, either positive or negative. We miss the evidence of God's presence when we are lost in selfish concerns or entitled efforts to depend on others for responsibilities that must be our own.

People complain that the ten with oil ought to share with those who are without. That is not the point of the story. The context is a wedding feast waiting for the Bridegroom to arrive. It is an image of the heavenly wedding banquet to which we are all invited. When the Bridegroom comes, we must be prepared to receive him. This preparation is personal. No one else can do it for you. You must use the oil of your own faith in active relationships of love to perceive the Lord when he comes.

The ten without oil were ill prepared when the Bridegroom arrived. Seeking to use the faith and good works of others will not serve as an entrance into the Kingdom. Your own love for the Lord, your own good works, your own virtues are needed to meet the Lord face to face. Blaming others for your lack will not suffice for an ill-prepared heart closed to the wisdom of love.

The first work is to surrender to the love of God in Christ and do your best to make that your deepest identity. Live by that love for the sake of your soul. Share that love in wisdom for the sake of others. The wisdom of this love will calm the fear and need for increased personal control in these changing times. God is unchanging and unconditional love. Challenging as times may be, that will never change.

The Prayer Blanket and Decorating Cards for Shut-Ins Ministries are meeting this Thursday, November 16, 2023 from 6-8 pm in the church social hall, due to upcoming Thanksgiving holiday. All are welcome to join us. You don't have to be artistic, just willing to give some of your time in service to others.

Pray for... all government leaders to seek wisdom in finding a peaceful solution to world tensions.
...medical and humanitarian aid for those suffering from economic hardship due to catastrophic weather, fires, floods, earthquakes and disasters
...the safety of men and women dedicated to protecting lives and freedom.
...the homeless, the addicted and all who are suffering physically, spiritually, mentally, and emotionally
...all who are sick, homebound, undergoing or recovering from surgery, medical procedures, treatments or testing, and those who have made specific prayer requests

Lord Jesus,

You are the Divine Physician and Healer. To You, we lift up in prayer all who are lonely, homeless, sick or addicted; all who are unemployed or underemployed; all who are anxious or depressed and all who are suffering in any way spiritually, physically or emotionally. In their pain and brokenness, we ask that you bring them the comfort of your loving presence. In You, may they find strength for the day and hope for the journey. Amen

To be sure that Christmas donations are properly credited for Christmas, please do not submit them until after December 8th.

Seeking Wisdom

by Colleen Jurkiewicz Dorman

I think if any of us were asked the question, "Do you love wisdom? Do you seek wisdom?" we would, at first, be a little taken aback. And then we would answer quickly "Of course!" with absolutely no doubt in our minds.

But a different way of asking the question is this: "Are you making wise choices?" That's a question that would put a fair few of us on the back foot.

The virgins who went out to meet the bridegroom were all the same. They had the exact same intentions. They had the exact same stamina, or lack of it. They had the exact same knowledge of the night being dark and lamps being necessary.

What made five foolish, and five wise?

It was their choices. Only their choices set them apart.

We may rely upon the wisdom of another — the parent who reminds us to go to confession, the friend who demurs when we start speaking gossip, the priest who preaches boldly from the pulpit against an injustice we lack the courage to denounce ourselves. But even if we feel safeguarded by their good influence, their wisdom won't save us.

We may possess a little wisdom ourselves — we may know well that a dark night is hard to navigate, and that we need the assistance of a lamp. We may go to Mass once in a while, read the Bible when we have time and serve others when it's convenient.

But a lamp needs oil to burn in the darkness, just as wisdom requires action to be brought forth into the world.

We may love God just as much as we should — our flesh may pine, our soul may thirst. But a parched field never brought rain on itself just by being dry.

We must make the choice.

"Thus will I bless you while I live; lifting up my hands, I will call upon your name." — Psalm 63:4

WHY DO WE DO THAT?
CATHOLIC LIFE EXPLAINED

LIGHTING CANDLES IN CHURCH

Question: Why do Catholics light candles in church?

Answer: Candles have been part of the Church's worship from the earliest times. In the days before electricity, candles and oil lamps were the ways that people lighted buildings. Even today, we often still depend on candles during power outages, relying on their flickering flames to bring light into the dark.

Like our ancestors, we also light candles on special occasions. Think about a festive family meal or a romantic dinner for two — there will often be candles on the table, special objects for a special event. We light candles on birthday cakes and carry them in processions. We also place candles at makeshift memorials that appear when there has been an accident or act of violence. In these moments, their light casts aside a different kind of darkness — the darkness of grief, fear, and death.

The custom of the early Christians lighting candles and lamps at the tombs of the martyrs gave way to the practice of having candles at Mass, honoring the sacredness of the celebration.

As Christians decorated their worship spaces with statues and icons, they would burn candles in front of sacred images and the relics of the saints, basically "shining a light" on what they held to be sacred. When pilgrims would visit these shrines, they would often bring candles to light before the image or relic. These candles came to be a symbol of the person, and their prayer and the burning these candles came to be understood as an extension and continuation of the prayer that was offered. What began as a practical way to provide light has come to be a symbol of the hopes, desires, loves, losses, fears, and faith of everyday Christians offering their prayers to God and his saints.

GETTING TO KNOW OUR SAINTS...

32nd Sunday in Ordinary Time

ST. FRANCES XAVIER CABRINI FEAST DAY NOVEMBER 13

You may recognize the name St. Frances Xavier Cabrini (1850 – 1917) as the first United States citizen to become a saint. Known for her deep trust in God, she was a courageous woman doing the work of Christ.

Her life of service began when she was first refused admission to the religious order which had educated her to be a teacher. Not one to take things face value, she instead focused her charitable work at the House of Providence Orphanage in Cadogno, Italy, and in 1877, professed vows there and took the religious habit.

When the bishop closed the orphanage in 1880, he named St. Frances Xavier Cabrini prioress of the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart. However, she had a dream she was determined to fulfill. Since her early childhood, she had dreamed of being a missionary in China. Pope Leo XIII, however, urged her to see the need in the west. She traveled with six of her fellow religious sisters to New York City, where they worked with the thousands of Italian immigrants residing there.

Although she experienced many disappointments during this time, she persevered. When she arrived in New York, the house intended to be her first orphanage in the United States was not available. Rather than come back to Italy and the order she oversaw, she instead found a way to establish that orphanage elsewhere — plus a few more. Throughout her life, she is known for founding 67 institutions dedicated to caring for the poor, the abandoned, the uneducated, and the sick. She died of malaria in her own Columbus Hospital in Chicago in 1917.

St. Elizabeth of Hungary Feast Day November 17

Although her life was short, St. Elizabeth of Hungary (1207 – 1231) is recognized for her love of the poor and suffering, and as patroness of Catholic charities and the Secular Franciscan Order. The daughter of the King of Hungary, she chose a life of penance instead of leisure, which made an impact on the “commoners” she served.

St. Elizabeth married Louis of Thuringia when she was 14. Deeply in love, they had three children. Despite their wealth, she led a life of prayer, sacrifice, and service to the poor and sick under the spiritual direction of a Franciscan friar.

After six years of marriage, her husband died in the Crusades, and St. Elizabeth was grief-stricken. Her husband’s family did not look kindly upon her and mistreated her before finally throwing her out of the palace. However, the return of her husband’s allies from the Crusades resulted in her being reinstated, since her son was legal heir to the throne.

St. Elizabeth joined the Secular Franciscan Order in 1228 where she cared for the poor in a hospital she founded in honor of St. Francis of Assisi. She died in 1231, but her great popularity resulted in her being named a saint only four years later.

Lately I’ve been enjoying the deep meaning of Eastern icons. I love how they express a tapestry of meaning in a way that can surpass the written or spoken word. Today’s parable of the ten virgins from Jesus is a good example. Try googling “wise and foolish virgins icon” and you’ll see an image of how our Christ meets our heart’s deepest needs if we attend to him with the proper attitude.

I’m serious. Take a moment to google and look at it. See how it depicts the risen Jesus behind a closed door with the five wise virgins with lighted lamps. He gazes with them toward the five foolish and lamp-less virgins, symbolizing the outward looking of divine love for the lost. Moreover, the wedding feast is no ordinary one. It takes place in a walled city and garden, indicating it’s a new Jerusalem and a return to Eden. The table isn’t typical, either. It’s a Eucharistic feast. Now we see that the door in Jesus’ parable is the way into the church, where Christ is the new light burning amidst the dark midnight of this world.

The richness continues. We notice, too, that the foolish virgins look exactly the same as the wise ones in their clothes, hair, and expressions. The only difference is they departed to buy oil and now they are sadly excluded. We often act like consumers in the marketplace to fulfill our need for love and mercy. We’ll always end up disappointed if we shop around. Jesus sums up the moral of the story this way: “Watch therefore, for you know neither the day nor the hour.” Watch, remain, don’t spiritually shop. It is always better to quietly remain close to the Eucharistic community of the Church, even if we feel like our oil has run out. This week let’s consider placing the icon of the wise and foolish virgins on our phone lock screen or computer desktop to help us remember to stay close to him, especially when life feels dark. -Father John Muir ©LPi

Saint Margaret of Scotland-November 16

Saint Margaret was born in exile around 1045, in what is now Hungary. She is the daughter of Princess Agatha of Hungary and Edward the Atheling the Anglo-Saxon heir to the throne of England. The family returned to England, but Edward died soon after their arrival, making Margaret’s brother Edgar the presumptive heir. However, the Norman Conquest would turn their world upside down. Agatha and her children fled the country. They likely intended to go back to Hungary, but they were shipwrecked off the coast of Scotland.

King Malcolm Canmore III took the exiles under his wing, and he fell in love with the beautiful and gracious Margaret. Although she initially rebuffed his proposals, the couple were married in 1070 at castle of Dunfermline. Margaret and Malcolm had eight children, six sons and two daughters. Margaret brought culture to the Scottish court and used her influence to soften her rough husband. The saint led a life of austerity, aiding Church reform, promoting Easter communion, and founding churches and monasteries. She instituted the Queen’s Ferry to the shrine of St. Andrew and founded pilgrimage hostels.

Saint Margaret, Queen of Scotland, died on November 16, 1093, four days after her husband and eldest son were killed in the battle of Alnwick. She was canonized by Pope Innocent IV in 1250 and named patron of Scotland in 1673.

During the month of November, the Book of Life, remembering our beloved deceased will be displayed in church. In it, you will find the names of the deceased of our parish and those whose funerals were celebrated at St.

Vincent Ferrer this past year.

You are invited to write in the names of your deceased loved ones for our remembrance.
